HOW NOT TO BE ROBBED ON HOLIDAY IN A BIG CITY

With the holiday season on the way, we would like to advise you how to avoid being robbed.

------	--

Many of us have a wardrobe of colourful vacation trousers or hats. We recommend that you leave this collection at home. Save the Hawaiian dresses for a Bad Taste Party or a barbecue on a beach. If you are walking around the city centre wearing Bermuda shorts and flip-flops, you become an easy target for pickpockets.

4.2.

Even if you stand out as a foreigner, do not show you are a tourist. If you need to look at a map or read about a famous landmark, do it in a place which is not in full view of everyone, definitely not in a busy street, on a bus or when having a meal in a restaurant. It's better to study leaflets and travel guides in your hotel room.

4.3.

When you are in a restaurant do not put your bag or camera over the back of a chair. Pickpockets will often come from behind and you won't notice that your bag is gone until you want to take out your wallet or credit card to pay the bill. When you are having a meal, keep an eye on your bag and anything valuable you have with you.

4.4.

To steal things, pickpockets need to come close to people and distract them. You might be robbed by one person while having a conversation with another. That is why pickpockets often work in teams. So, be careful about strangers asking you for help or trying to make friends with you and do not trust them even if they seem nice or helpless.

Tekst 1.

GOAL!

It's the seventh minute of the match against Liverpool, one of the top clubs in Britain. And we're expected to lose. Bruce is coming towards me. Should I try to pass the ball to him or shoot?

"Round the keeper," someone calls out. "Shooooot!!!" shout the majority.

I decide to kick the ball and I can see it going high. I look up and see my parents shouting wildly, for the first time here, not in front of the TV set on the sofa. The ball turns right and falls inside the left-hand post. I've just scored a goal and we're one-nil up against the favourites.

5.1. Who is the narrator?

- A. a footballer playing a match
- B. a football fan cheering his team
- C. a TV viewer watching a game

Tekst 2.

GOLF COURSES GO GREEN

There are situations when something that used to be popular becomes unwanted. This is what's happening in Japan, where too many golf courses have been built. Nowadays, Japanese interest in golf is much smaller because golfing has become too expensive. That's why today many golf courses in Japan aren't used anymore. The solution? Turning them into solar farms. Golf courses are large open spaces that often get lots of sunlight and may be turned into sources of cheap energy. The first project is now under construction and others will follow. When the solar farms start working, enough power for about 8100 houses will be produced from just one golf course.

adapted from www.businessinsider.com

5.2. Which is TRUE about golf courses in Japan?

- A. They have recently become more popular with golfers.
- B. Most of them have been changed into solar farms.
- C. Some of them may soon have a different function.

Tekst 3.

Dear Editor,

I was shocked when I saw how some football players acted on the pitch last Saturday. Something should be done about it! I heard that some Italian clubs are introducing a green card to promote fair play. The card will be a symbolic award and every player will be able to earn one by doing something simple like assisting a referee. At the end of every month the clubs will announce a list of all the players who have been given a green card.

It is a constructive plan that should also be considered in the UK.

Tim, Newcastle

adapted from www.theguardian.com

5.3. The author of this text presents

- A. the disadvantages of a new fair play plan.
- B. an idea which might encourage fair play.
- C. a fair play project introduced in UK clubs.

Przeczytaj tekst. Z podanych odpowiedzi wybierz właściwą, zgodną z treścią tekstu. Zakreśl jedną z liter: A, B, C albo D.

When the World Trade Center towers fell down on September 11, 2001, there were many heroes. One you probably haven't heard of was a dog.

Salty was born in 1996 and started to be trained as a guide dog two years later by the dog instructor Caroline McCabe-Sandler. She had trained dogs for many years before Salty. According to McCabe-Sandler, Salty liked the movement and noise of the city. The dog was very obedient and did everything he was told to. Caroline taught Salty to navigate in the city and stop at traffic lights. Subways or the crowded sidewalks of Manhattan were no problem for the dog.

In 1999, after five months of training, Salty met his owner, an elderly man, Omar Rivera. It was a lucky day for Rivera. He had been blind for 10 years after an unsuccessful eye operation. Even though a lot of time had passed since then, he still had difficulty walking with a white cane for the blind so it was a challenge for him to move from one place to another. But with Salty, he felt more confident. Soon the dog and his owner learned each other's moves. Omar worked for the Port Authority of New York, the agency that runs all the ports and airports in the state. His office was in the World Trade Center, on the 71st floor of Tower One.

On September 11, 2001, Salty was sitting calmly beside Rivera when the pair heard a great noise and felt the building shake. When Rivera smelled smoke, he grabbed Salty's lead and his dog led him to the crowded staircase. After an hour, the dog successfully guided Rivera down from the 71st floor out of the building. They left it without being hurt.

In 2002 Salty was awarded the Dickin Medal for "remaining loyally at the side of his blind owner, leading him to safety after the terrorist attack on New York on September 11." Salty got this medal together with Roselle, another guide dog who saved her master. It was only the second time that a joint medal had been awarded since Punch and Judy, the two boxers that saved the lives of two British soldiers in Israel, got the award in 1946. Interestingly, the Dickin Medal was first awarded in 1943. It originally honoured the work of animals in war and the first animals to receive the award were Royal Air Force pigeons.

6.1. Which is TRUE about Salty?

- A. He found it difficult to follow the instructor's orders.
- B. He needed two years to learn to guide the blind.
- C. He got trained by an inexperienced instructor.
- D. He felt comfortable in a busy city.

6.2. In the third paragraph, we learn that Omar Rivera

- A. had an eye operation in 1999.
- B. worked at the airport in New York.
- C. had been blind since he was 10 years old.
- D. had problems with moving around on his own.

6.3. On September 11, Salty

- A. got lost in the crowd of people.
- B. managed to lead his owner outside.
- C. seemed nervous just before the attack.
- D. rescued one of Rivera's co-workers.

6.4. Which is TRUE about the Dickin Medal?

- A. It is often given to animals helping blind people.
- B. Salty got it as the second dog in history.
- C. Salty shared it with another dog.
- D. It was first given as an award in 1946.

6.5. The best title for the text would be

- A. A DOG GETS AN AWARD FOR RESCUING HIS OWNER
- B. A DOG IN DANGER SAVED BY HIS OWNER
- C. A BLIND DOG ESCAPES FROM THE WORLD TRADE CENTER
- D. A GUIDE DOG GETS HURT RESCUING THE BLIND

Przeczytaj tekst, z którego usunięto trzy zdania. Wpisz w luki 7.1.–7.3. litery, którymi oznaczono brakujące zdania (A–E), tak aby otrzymać logiczny i spójny tekst. Uwaga: dwa zdania zostały podane dodatkowo i nie pasują do żadnej luki.

AN EASY QUESTION

Einstein was often asked to deliver lectures on physics at leading American universities. He always agreed because he hoped to make students interested in the love of his life, the pure sciences. As a result, he had to visit many places around the country. 7.1. ____ The man was called Harry and he was the same age as Einstein. He attended each of Einstein's lectures and was always sitting in the back row listening.

One day, when Einstein had finished his lecture, Harry said, "Professor Einstein, I've heard your lecture so many times now that I would be able to deliver it to perfection myself!"

A few weeks later, when they were at Brown University, Einstein began to feel ill. "Harry, no one knows me here, perhaps you could deliver the lecture, and I could sit in the back row?" Einstein asked his chauffeur. 7.2. ____ Later that afternoon, Harry delivered the lecture, while Einstein sat in the back row. 7.3. ____ Harry reacted quickly. "The answer is actually quite simple so I am going to let my chauffeur explain it to you!" he said.

adapted from www.alberteinstainsite.com

- A. Harry realised Einstein had a problem, but he didn't keep his promise.
- B. Harry had been waiting for this chance so he happily agreed to do it.
- C. All the students listened carefully to Einstein's lecture that day.
- D. But just as Harry finished talking, one of the students asked him a difficult question.
- E. As he did not drive, he had a chauffeur who always travelled with him.
